Physical, Emotional, Social, & Academic	Efforts are made to create an atmosphere that is respectful and accepting for all class members in both individual and group interactions, including opportunities to make and learn from mistakes. Examples: scaffolding or integrating low-stakes assignments that provide opportunity to receive feedback and learn from mistakes prior to evaluation; modeling assertive, non-violent
Respect	communication skills; providing content warnings prior to viewing discussing sensitive material
Trustworthiness & Transparency	Trust and transparency are enhanced by making course expectations clear, ensuring consistency in practice, and maintaining appropriate boundaries.
	Examples: articulating clear policies and implementing them consistently; providing detailed assignment sheets and grading rubrics; responding to email within the communicated time-frame; avoiding all-or-nothing or zero-tolerance policies that are difficult to enforce consistently; consistent with course navigation and design, creating class routines or rituals
Support & Connection	All class members are connected with appropriate peer and professional resources to help them succeed academically, personally, and professionally.
	Examples: providing referral information for campus and community resources such as advising and writing services; announcing campus and community events; facilitating peer groups and peer workshops; inviting guest speakers
Collaboration & Mutuality	All class members act as allies rather than as adversaries to help ensure one another's success. Opportunities exist for all class members to provide input, share power, and make decisions.
	Examples: implementing policies and practices that foster success; involving students in creating or revising policies, assignments, and grading; doing with rather than doing for students (e.g. editing papers for students); facilitating student-led discussions and activities
Empowerment, Voice, & Choice	All class members emphasize strengths and resilience over deficiencies and pathology; they empower one another to make choices and to develop confidence and competence.
	Examples: building in choices where possible (e.g. readings, paper format); integrating active learning; implementing realistic attendance policies (e.g. statements in syllabus to reach out to instructional team if you will be absent before a class); facilitating large and small group discussion so students have multiple opportunities and modes to speak
Cultural, Historical, &	All class members strive to be responsive to historical, cultural, and gender contexts in order to respect one another's diverse experiences and identities.
Gender Contexts	Examples: addressing microaggressions; being aware of personal and disciplinary biases and how they impact teaching and learning (e.g. privileging or disparaging certain dialects, writing styles, or research methods); providing choices to self-identify identities (e.g. choice to identify or not identify pronouns); taking responsibility to address burdening of students to speak for or represent/explain their entire identity group (e.g. if a student is asked to speak for their ethnicity, the instructor addresses this)
Resilience, Growth, &	All class members recognize each other's strengths and resilience, and they provide feedback to help each other grow and change.
Change	Examples: providing formative & summative assessments; pointing out what was done well; assigning multiple drafts; holding one-on-one conferences; facilitating peer feedback; rewarding success & effort; soliciting feedback from students to improve the course; conveying optimism
